National Mobile Phlebotomy and Site Draw Program

Supporting patient care through in-home and site blood draws

We understand that many cancer patients are anxious about visiting their physician's office or laboratory. This can make it difficult to obtain the blood draws for cancer testing that you need for your care.

At NeoGenomics, patients come first. And we're here to help.

We are excited to offer patients the option of site location or in-home blood draws through our National Mobile Phlebotomy Program to collect blood samples in a stress-free environment by a skilled phlebotomist. Our licensed phlebotomist helps to ensure that the specimen is collected and delivered to NeoGenomics for analysis.

*A physician's order is required to use the program

This program is for NeoGenomics
blood-based tests.

We provide a simple, safe,
convenient process:

1 Request a NeoGenomics blood test from your provider.

2 Order received by our NeoGenomics patient advocate team from your provider.

3 A patient advocate team member will contact you to schedule a site location testing appointment or an in-home blood draw appointment that is convenient for you.

4 Employing COVID-19 precautions, a licensed phlebotomist will visit your home and safely perform the blood draw.

5 The specimen will be sent to NeoGenomics for analysis. Test results will be delivered to your provider.
